FOREWORD

7he times in which we live are strained times; war and peace are delicately balanced on the thread of fate. That fate may determine just how long this world is to exist. We realize the position of such a school as VMI in this situation, for we will have an active part in whatever happens, whether there be war or peace. We know the value of the training given at VMI, and we hold dear that which makes us citizen soldiers. In the pages that follow, we have tried to show our school as most of its friends, alumni and cadets know it and remember it. We have not glorified it, for it needs no further glory. We have shown it a reverence that is due to great things. We have not given you "VMI, the West Point of the South." We have given you VMI, "in peace a citadel of knowledge, in war a tower of strength."

THE INSTITUTE

DEDICATION

In appreciation of his commendable work at VMI, his keen understanding of the Corps and his interest taken in all phases of life here at the Institute, the 1953 VMI BOMB is respectfully dedicated.

MAJOR GENERAL WILLIAM H. MILTON, JR.
Eighth Superintendent of VMI

The VMI Corps in general and the first class in particular are familiar with General Milton from the standpoint of the speaker's rostrum, and his remarks have always searched the conscience of the men present, bringing out the best in them.

The duties of such a man as the Superintendent of VMI are rigorous, and General Milton has proved himself to be the man for the job. An easy, casual, but highly efficient atmosphere surrounds him both on the job at his office and in his dealings with the cadets all about the post.

During the stay of only one year so far, the General has shown an interest and a devotion to his work that has made him admired by all. Any man in the Corps will give evidence to his sincerity and frankness in meeting the many problems placed before him as Superintendent. The position is a large one to fill properly, but VMI may proudly claim that she has a man large enough to fill it.

HIS EXCELLENCY, JOHN STEWART BATTLE
Governor of Virginia

LIEUTENANT COLONEL JOHN E. TOWNES

The assistance on matters pertaining to the BOMB that Colonel Townes has given have gone far to make this publication possible, and it is with a deep sense of gratitude to their advisor that the editors of this BOMB offer it to the Corps.

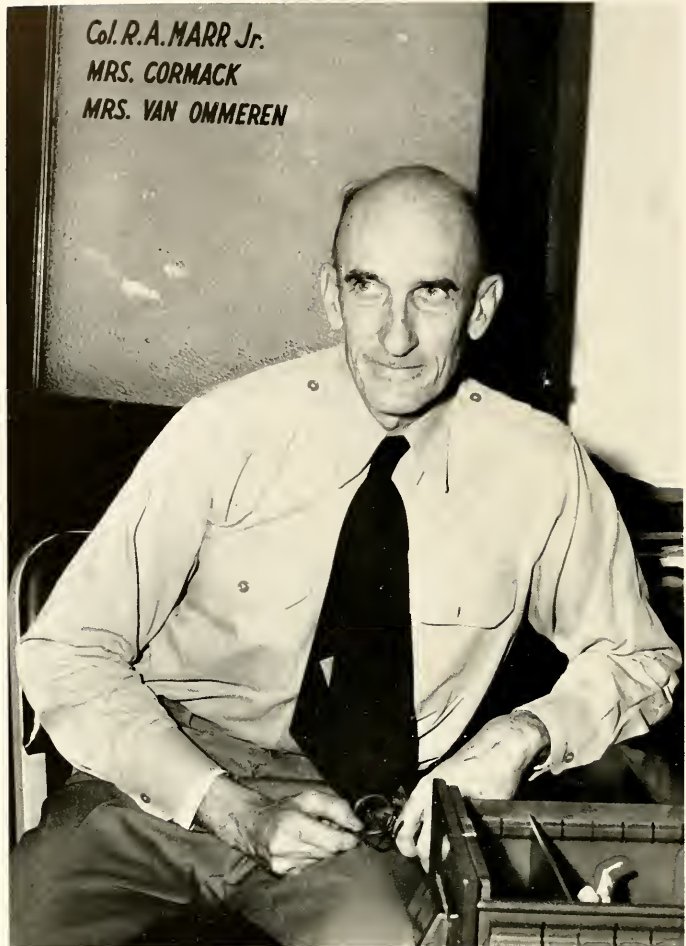

LIEUTENANT COLONEL HERBERT A. JACOB

Those who have read copies of the "Alumni Review" have seen the fine work that Colonel Jacob has done as Alumni Secretary. Once you have met him you will never forget his cordial, easy manner, topped off with a broad grin.

MAJOR O. L. DENTON

As Foundation Secretary Major Denton is a key figure in the handling of VMI's myriad of business details. The VMI Foundation requires a big man and it has that man in Major Denton.

THE INAUGURAL PARADE

The second battalion marching down Pennsylvania Avenue

This year saw the switch in the federal government from the Democratic Party to the Republican Party, but it also is memorable to us for having participated in the inaugural parade which ushered in our new president, Dwight D. Eisenhower. The long parade route took almost three hours to cover and overcoats did not help a bit, but who will ever forget it? The crowds, the clapping as VMI passed by, the spectacle all went to make the inaugural trip one that will live in the memories of its participants for a long time. Both the two marching battalions and the band received rewards for their outstanding performances which ranked them third out of all the numerous marching and playing elements.

FIRST CLASS OFFICERS 1953

William Hodgkin Allison

Warrenton, Virginia

Armor

Biology

"Willie" is setting his sights on teeth picking on a large scale—Dentistry. He will enter M. C. V. this coming Fall and from there he will be sure to drill his way to fame and fortune. Will has the rare ability to talk for hours to the amusement of all those in his vocal range. His easy going humor and sharp wit have made him one of the most popular men in the Corps. Willie will be successful because along with intelligence and determination he has those qualities which make everyone feel at ease and forget their troubles.

Douglas Eugene Andrews

Roanoke, Virginia

Air Force

Biology

The "hear" came to us from Roanoke, Virginia, four years ago and, I might add, has lost some weight since that eventful September. His major asset to the class is his combination of "Joe College" white bucks and military gray suits that places a cadet in the right society when on a weekend in the "most American City." Those who know him appreciate his smile and humor toward everyone he meets in or outside the limits of barracks showing true Brother Rat spirit. Doug's ambition in life is to be a doctor and this ambition will be easily reached if he continues to follow the pace he has set for himself at V. M. I.

Robert Forrest Andrews

DeKalb, Illinois

Corps of Engineers Civil Engineering

Since his matriculation in 1949 Bob has been a friendly, earnest, hard-working man who has won the admiration of his fellow cadets and who has risen to a position of leadership in his company. Throughout his four years within these hallowed walls Bob has patiently awaited his coming marriage to that certain red-head from Illinois. His future is bright and we are certain he will make VMI a proud alumnus.

Harry Joseph Archer, Jr.
Washington, D. C.

Armor

English

Here is a man unique among V. M. I. cadets, and soon he will be marrying into one of the Old Dominion's oldest and most historical families. Lover of relics, especially old guns and knives and military weapons, Joe has got a collection which would make the most avid collector green with envy. Knowing the history he has dug up about his guns, it is a wonder to us why he isn't a History major rather than an English major. His astuteness in his varying outside interests tell us that Joe will go far in what ever he chooses to do.

Edwin H. Artz, Jr.
Engineers Civil Engineering

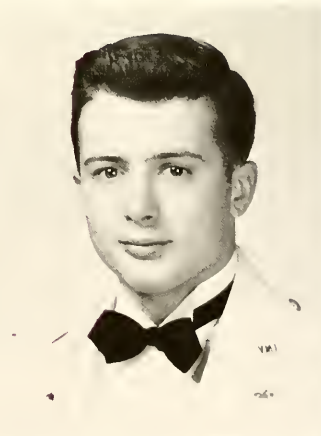

Nutley's contribution to the Class of 1953 gained tremendous popularity immediately upon entering the Institute and has retained it ever since. A Yankee converted into a real Rebel, the boy who thinks of himself as Robert Mitchum has made his mark in Lynchburg as well as in Lexington. Ed is not only the intramural wrestling champ of barracks, he is a member of the faithful four from the Belvoir summer camp.

William Henry Atwill
Kinsale, Virginia

Air Force

Chemistry

The Air Force, the Marines, law, chemistry, boot-legging—each in its turn has tempted "Sleepy" as a career. But, a military man at heart, it looks as if that will be his ultimate goal. He is a leader in a leading company, and we believe that is an indication of the future. Whether it is the military or chemistry, boot-legging or law, we can see that his sense of responsibility, good humor, and desire to make good will lead him to the top.

William Denton Badgett

Knoxville, Tennessee

Air Force

English

Bill came to us having already tasted of the Pierian Spring and set out to further explore the more profound fields of literature and the Humanities. Endowed with a subtle wit and a polysyllabic vocabulary unparalleled in cadet society Bill dominated any discussion, and his quiet phrases commanded attention in any gathering. Bill has such a rounded mixture of the essential elements that we know the future will heed his intellect as we, his Brother Rats, have for the past four years.

William Hobart Bayliss, Jr.

St. Albans, West Virginia

Air Force

Biology

From "West by God Virginia," the "Kid", as he is known by his Brother Rats, is one of the few men who has mastered the system. He probably broke more regulations than anyone in the history of the Institute, and never walked a penalty tour. He is famous for being portrayed in the Turn-Out comic-strip as "The Dirty Little Muvva," and his uncanny basketball shooting. Next fall, he will enter dental school at Louisville, and is bound to be successful for his ability to make friends and "snow" the public.

Zeb Gilbert Bell, Jr.

Eustace St. Pierre Belinger

Bessemer, Alabama

History

On September 6, 1949, "Useless" oozed into "Paradise Unlimited"—alias VMI—holding a glass in one hand and an ivory cigarette holder in the other, and since that time he has done just about everything in reverse order in his flaunting of tradition. He has gone from disreputable rat, to trifling third, to confined second, and finally arrived to his last year as a hell-on-rats first. "Oz" has a job lined up with Hercules Powder Company, and this is to tell them that they are getting a swell guy, but look out, he's a live wire.

English

"Pogo" has been the LA of LA's. The hardest part of his day comes when Taps go and he has to get off his blanket on the floor and get into his sack. "One-beer" Bickmore has terrorized rats, roommates, Brother Rats and girls with his endless stream of practical jokes and good-natured ferocity. The "Pog" plans to enter the regular army, and with his ability to win friends and influence people he should excel in his career.

George Thomas Bigner

Shreveport, Louisiana

Civil Engineering

One dark day in September, 1949, the "Feet" came out of the swamps of Louisiana to the first light of civilization. From that time on his varied escapades with the fairer sex have been his pride and joy. An excellent student, he has been successful in all of his undertakings. This success applies as well to his ability to gain friends, and with his many qualifications he is sure to reach the top of the ladder of success.

Thomas John Bonnett

Newport News, Virginia

Armor History

To any passer-by Tom looks as if he were a man, but to us who know him, we realize that he is not only a man in looks, but that he is also a man in the true sense of the word. He has brains to go with his brawn, a sense of humor to go with his sound judgment, and friends to go with him anywhere. He has been recognized as a leader and has been that leader for as long as we have known him, and there is no question in our minds that he will not continue to be that leader when he leaves us.

Foy McKinley Braswell, Jr.

Elizabeth, New Jersey

Artillery Chemistry

Leaving the hills of Tennessee to see what the outside world was like, Foy somehow ended up at the Institute. After four years of imprisonment combined with endless extra-extra-activities, "Old Bras" has decided to settle down and is planning on graduate school and a little serious studying—UNCLE SAM willing. But whoever gets Bras, the Army or graduate school, we know that they are getting the best in quality.

William Leroy Brehany

Ridgely, West Virginia

Air Force History

Bill ambled out of the hills of Ridgely and entered VMI in 1948. Known for his athletic prowess it was only a short time before Bill was the object of much attention. It takes only a glance to note his achievements, both local and national, on the football field. But it will not be primarily for this athletic success that we will remember him. It will be rather for his personality. Bill will never lack friends, for those he has already made will never forget him, and those whom he will make in the future will be many.

Edgar Lee Brown, Jr.

Norfolk, Virginia

Air Force Civil Engineering

Although always conscientious about his studies, and always in the top of his academic class, it is not for that that Ed has won his renown. It is rather for his outstanding extra-curricular activities that we will remember this great wrestler. Ed took part in every phase of Barracks life, and led the way in them all.

Joseph Macon Brown

Waynesboro, Virginia

Air Force Civil Engineering

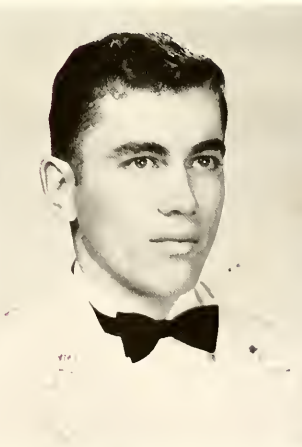

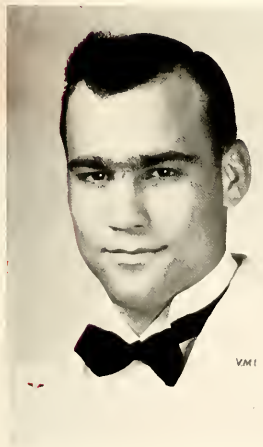

This tall, friendly Virginian came to the Institute with a smile, and a natural, easy-going manner. He is first of all a friend in the true sense of the word. He is liked by all, and what is more important, he is worth liking. He is a leader, whether he admits it or not, and he can be led. He is in the slang of the age, a "great guy," and the future holds many happy years in store for him.

James Edward Burton III

Altavista, Virginia

Armor Civil Engineering

Although constantly complaining of the huge pile of work facing him, "The Earthmole" can be found most any afternoon burrowed deep in the confines of his sack. Any small rays of light that may reach his widely dilated pupils cause untold agony. Seriously, though, Ed can lay claim to the possession of a group of well-balanced qualities that allow him to look back on a successful cadetship and forward to a promising future.

James Ashurst Byron

Donora, Pennsylvania

Air Force

Jim showed the stuff he was made of during football season: determination, ability, leadership, stamina, good sportsmanship, and an all-around know-how. But he displays these and many more characteristics off the football field: a sense of humor, a winning personality, and plenty of good sense. Unquestionably we know that Jim will reach what ever goal he sets his sights for.

He has attacked his studies with a calm seriousness that has won him a name in the classroom. A dependable source of entertainment and a reliable friend. "Chief" has scored in academics and athletics and will be remembered as the big guy with the bigger heart.

Robert Angle Cheatham

Roanoke, Virginia

Air Force

Civil Engineering

Dividing his services among many different activities, Bobby has left his mark in all. Diligent about everything that he attempts, accomplishment has been the normal rather than the unusual. Turning his efforts to his academics, Bobby achieved an Honor List average nearly every month. The zenith of his collegiate career was reached when he was elected to a position on the Honor Court, a position which requires an insight into human nature.

George Lewis Chumbley

Richmond, Virginia

Air Force

Civil Engineering

George has left quite a record behind him. In all the activities he has entered he has distinguished himself. On the gridiron he could always be counted on for thrills and those needed points. In barracks life he could always be counted on for good company. In extra-curricular activities he could be depended on to do a willing and good job. For the future George can be depended on to continue to distinguish himself.

Harold Frederic Claus

Oak Park, Illinois

Civil Engineering

Harold can always be counted on to burst out of his habitual air of watchfulness with the hilarious statement. He has perfected a devil-may-care attitude that goes well with his personality. His never-failing sense of humor and ready wit have not only helped him to bear the military but it has helped all of us to bear it. But Harold has more to go with his personality; he is one of the top students in our class. Smart, friendly, witty, a true V. M. I. gentleman, Harold will go far up the ladder of success.

Edward Jones Clopton, Jr.

Cumberland, Maryland

Air Force

Entering V. M. I. with the reputation of a basketball star, "Chip" decided to relieve himself of his athletic responsibilities and concentrate on Uncle Buzz's Civil course. His capabilities were recognized later and the military and Hop Committee attest the fact. Ned's quiet capabilities should earn him a big place in the future.

Thomas Elmo Colvin

Culpeper, Virginia

"Hey Tom, what's wrong with this radio?" Or, "Tom, how about a little guitar music?" These are the common questions directed at this hard-working E.E., who also manages to find time for airplane flying. Tom's room is always filled with radios in various stages of repair and with the more esthetic individuals who enjoy a well-played guitar. He will always be remembered as a cheerful, quiet, and generous Brother Rat who has never minded lending a well-needed helping hand.

Dan Bartlett Conoly

Perhaps one of the best known persons in barracks and certainly one of the most liked, is Pete, "Let's have a party" Cox. Pete has done almost everything in the course of his cadetship. He has been outstanding in the performance of his military duties, a good student, and a leader in every sense of the word. As yet he has not made up his mind about the future, but with all his gifts he will undoubtedly be a success in any task he undertakes.

James Parker Cross

All Classes have boasts, but none can boast of unity with as loud a voice as we. And it is to Parker that we as a Class owe that distinction. Because of his leadership and sense of values he has kept us together and content for these past four years. Through his diligence and patience and desire he has given us the Class President we wanted. Through his character and example he has given V. M. I. the leadership it needs. We as a Class owe Parker a great deal, the Institute owes him even more, and the future will find that it too will end in debt to—Parker Cross.

Neal Gene Cury

Norton, Virginia

Air Force

History

From the wilds of Hoot-Owl Hollow, Gene came to us posing as a successful businessman, and we soon found that he was just that. But Gene is more than just a good businessman, which means that he has more than just a good head on his shoulders; he is honestly good natured, helpful and thoughtful, an admirable and individual personality, and he is a friend in need. As to the future we can only see prosperity.

Denver Thomas Dale III

Oxnard, California

Marine Corps      Civil Engineering

Denny hailed from sunny California where all is "the biggest and the bestest." A mainstay on the tennis team and a valuable participant in intramurals, and he managed to win two letters in other sports. The athletic ability must have been inbred, because the only training he ever did was for parties. Studying always came first—after sack-time and the Marine Corps. A potential Leatherneck himself, Denny will be one of the best and promises to go up through the ranks speedily.

R. T. Dalton, Jr.

Staunton, Virginia

Armor      English

"T. D." strolled into Jackson Arch in 1949 after a short 35 mile trip from Staunton, and was quick to realize that the Institute was no match for his ingenuity. Now four years later, he is still ahead of the game. This friendly, relaxed, easy going gentleman from the South plans to enter law school, and we feel that that vocation was made for him and in it he cannot fail to be successful.

A. J. Davia

Chicago, Illinois

Al, better known as "Ajax," hails from Chicago, Illinois. When little "Ajax" descended upon the Institute he had the "World in his Arms," but one year in the routine convinced him to exert his normal personality, through which he shows strong determination in everything. "Ajax" is liked by everyone, his likeable personality is an attribute which will gain him many friends in later life. We are all proud of Al.

Terry Hunter Davis, Jr.

Charlottesville, Virginia

It never ceases to be a source of amazement why any man would come from Charlottesville to Lexington for a college education. Anyone who had been introduced to "Wahoo Land" should find it hard to leave. But then Terry is also a source of amazement. Deciding definitely not to follow a military career while enclosed in these four walls, he turned to academics. His record is enviable. When he returns to Charlottesville, Terry will have four years of accomplishment behind him on which to found a future.

William Paul Diehl

Roanoke, Virginia

Armor

Civil Engineering

"Dirty," as Bill is affectionately known to all, skipped the mountain and landed in V. M. I. to let us know that Roanoke boys could, if given a chance, make good. Since then he has shown us that he could make better than "good." Popular, friendly, likable, and witty, Bill has displayed those talents freely, plus keeping his roommates under control and passing the mathematic hazards of the Civil course. The future will surely hold fair promises for Bill.

Charles Francis Dininger, Jr.

Freeport, Pennsylvania

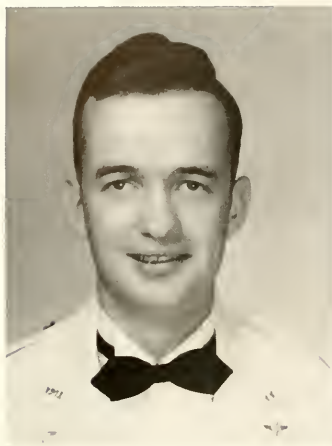

Air Force

Civil Engineering

Emerging from the depths of the Pennsylvania coal mines four years ago, Chuck turned his ambitions toward a college degree. Choosing V. M. I. as his place for study, he entered in the fall of '49 with the Class of '53. With him he brought a wealth of athletic ability which has been his trademark ever since he arrived. He also brought a store of hill billy songs which he delightedly chanted for any and all listeners. Upon being graduated, Chuck will become a career man commissioned in the Marine Corps.

Joseph Eugene Duff, Jr.

Joe stormed the Institute from his home base in the "Moonshine Belt" of Southwest Virginia, and, after a long and exciting struggle, has proven that even V. M. I. cannot keep a good man down. His sparkling wit makes him the life of every party, and his easy going nature has made him a popular figure wherever he goes. His trials and tribulations are now legendary at V. M. I. Joe has only to turn around and he can find a friend; he is just that likeable. It will be a long time before the Institute forgets Joe, and his many friends never will.

James William Eads

Lexington, Virginia

"Tiger" drifted into the Institute from the great Metropolis of Lexington and added a great touch of wit to the Class of 1953. As custodian of afternoon "Sac" time, he went far to live up to this true L. A. tradition. A friendly smile, a few words and this boy could make friends with anyone. He will go far with his winning personality and do or die attitude. So long "Tiger" you will be missed by many.

John Coke Flannagan

Mountain Lakes, New Jersey

"Flanny" holds the unique distinction of being the fourth generation of Flannagans to graduate from V. M. I. His keen sense of humor, individualistic attitude, high intellect, and determination prepare him as a physicist of tomorrow. Among Brother Rats he is known as the "black running O. G." and "Pa." He is well liked by all and matched by few. "Flanny" leaves V. M. I. as a serious minded physicist, prepared to face the problem of graduate school and advancements of science.

In "the Fletch," we find a man obviously born to be a member of the aristocracy. With perfection his goal and diplomacy his means, he has scored in such incidental subjects as academics and gloried in all phases of extra-curricular life. His easy-going manner has never kept him from his true purpose. Dave has the ability to be comfortable in any circumstance.

Marvin Wayne Forsyth

Abington, Pennsylvania

Air Force

Wayne—"Junior" to the troops—hit the Institute like a chicken hits water; he knew V. M. I. wasn't meant for him. He had the Institute, after several fights involving oranges, tae ("Dear Jim, There are no damn—"), and specials, alter its traditions to form a niche for him, which he had admirably filled. Few can state their feelings so bluntly, yet as good-naturedly, as he can, as his roommates will gladly testify of his mighty lectures while he was still in the M. D. A. New Orleans removed him from this elite group, though, and now he is one of those fallen mothers' sons who have graduated from the Institute.

Paul Edward Fortin

Newburyport, Massachusetts

Air Force

Electrical Engineering

How he got the nickname of "Birdie," nobody seems to know, but everybody knows Fortin, P. E., stubby-legged runner on the track team and exceptionally high in academic rank in the many devious circuits and cross-currents of the EE Department. Peanuts and "two dips of vanilla ice cream, Bat!" are as much a part of his diet as beating his head on the beautiful green tables of V. M. I. in preparation of an English re-exam, but he grows plump on the ice cream and wise on the English, so we are sure he will put his best foot out as he goes through life.

Ynn-Chuen Fu

Hong Kong, China

"Otis," a nickname of unknown derivation, could furnish an example as a model cadet from both the standpoint of the Institute or the individual cadet. Always meticulously dressed and shined, always on time, and with flawless study habits, he commanded both the respect and admiration (contrary to the normal attitude toward such "models") of all who served with and under him.

Norman Langford George, Jr.

Wilmington, North Carolina

From the "Oxford of the South" "No Good" George made the long journey across the hills of Tennessee and the baby Alps of the Blue Ridge to Virginia's own "Alcatraz in Miniature." Undismayed, Norman decided to make the best of a bad situation and in the remaining three years has become well known as a hayhound (Liberal Artist), party goer (lush), and classroom intellectual (master of B.S.). Although after three years, Norman may have wished to turn in his coat for Sewanee's academic gown, the Class of '53 has gained from his presence.

Warren Maynard Goddard, Jr.

Field Artillery Civil Engineering

Warren probably holds the record for the number of week ends taken during his cadetship. He has traveled to Richmond and various points throughout Virginia and North Carolina periodically. In spite of all his travels, Warren has been able to keep up the good grades and be publicity manager of the Glee Club. A gentleman, scholar, businessman, and racketeer—no other man can claim as many distinctions. Warren's personality and fine salesmanship assure him of a great success in the business world.

Francisco Manuel Gonzales

Manati, Puerto Rico

Armor Biology

"Pancho," Puerto Rico's gift to V. M. I., is truly an individual of keen intelligence and strong determination. As a Pre-Med., "Pancho" has been a four year honor man and leader of his class. As the Glee Club piano accompanist, he has led the club in many concerts. In a good hot friendly barracks argument, he is rarely defeated. For a clear understanding of any subject that his "Brother Rats" desire to inquire about, it is always "Pancho" they ask and "Pancho" who gives the answer. For him the "sky's the limit." As a surgeon, he surely will be the best in the medical profession.

Air Force History

"Chief" is our battle-scarred hero of many campaigns and is still the victor of many engagements, but he seems to be losing the battle of the vanishing hairline. He has had many tussles with rank and romance, but he always seems to come out on top. This guy just won't quit. Next year Chief will be flying jets, and if we know him he will be flying high, wide and handsome.

"Sparky," the scourge of the EE Department, has led a none too quiet existence during his lengthy residence at the Institute. Musician extraordinary, his piano renditions have led the Commanders to fame and fortune. Discoverer of "Gray's Constant," he has made the fudge factor obsolete in engineering calculations. Whether as the Wall Street financier, or power specialist we can be sure Wes will make his mark in the world.

William Bark Grinc

Staunton, Virginia

Pete breezed into the Institute direct from Wahoo land on a fateful September day in 1950. He made the conversion from sports slacks to straight pants quite easily, and, by combining his easy-going, good nature with a willingness to work, he has won the good will of both his fellow cadets and his professors. As handy with his tennis racket as with his fountain pen, he has become one of the mainstays of the tennis team. Pete has Air Force blue in mind after graduation, and, considering his many outstanding qualities, it seems that for him, "The sky's the limit."

The "terror of Buckingham County" hit V. M. I. in 1949, and after four years it may be said that he has battled the Institute to a draw. Never one to pass up a party or a joke, Red is known to all of us for his friendliness and good humor. An excellent student, Red plans to become a doctor, and his ability and personality give every indication that he will do well in his chosen field.

Asher Waterman Harman

Richmond, Virginia

Ash is the man with all the automobiles—he runs Henry Ford a close second. Keeping up with the latest in stock car racing has constituted a large portion of Ash's time at V. M. I. He will always be remembered for his bountiful knowledge of the Ford V-8. Ash has done his academic work well for "Uncle Buzz," however, being a true "sack-hound," he has had to pass away idle hours by staying awake.

Ray Madison Hart

Roanoke, Virginia

Coming from the "Magic City" in the fall of '48, Ray found wizardry a bad match for the Ratline, but emerged near the top of the military totem pole at the end of his "Rat year." Having much talent in this field, "Razor" culminated his efforts by commanding "A" Company. In another field, he has had his name appear on many of Uncle Buzz's job interview lists. Regardless of which engineering career he pursues, we can predict success.

Fredrick Flad Hauser, Jr.

Norristown, Pennsylvania

Fred will always be remembered as the quiet and collective fellow who typified the true Brother Rat. Freddy was active in his company intramurals, and also ranked high in the scholastic and military curriculum here at the Institute. However, it was not all work for Fred. His week ends were well occupied, either by flying or visiting Mary Washington College. Exams presented no unusual problem to Fred, he always believed that the greatest asset to a college student is the faculty to memorize.

Ronnie came to us by way of Phoebus and Chesapeake Bay, and quickly adapted himself to the land-locked hills of Lexington. Putting aside his boats for the rigors of the Pre-med course he was more than equal to the task, and has proven himself a capable and diligent Carroll disciple. Friendly, unselfish, and good-natured, he is liked by all who know him. Ronnie plans to make the big jump to Wahoo land Medical School after graduation, and he should be just as successful there as he has been here at the Institute.

Lon came "North" to Lexington in 1949, direct from the hills of Tennessee. He soon adapted himself to Yankee ways, however, and quickly rose to the top of his class in spite of the erratic Virginia climate. His humor and good nature have won him many friends (along with quite a few choice "Tennessee Tidbits"). Always ready for a dance, party, or good discussion, the "Nashville Nemesis" will long be remembered by faculty, fellow cadets, and Col. Barksdale.

A typical civil, Bill got by the finer arts of English and history by the skin of his prominent two front teeth. He is one of the few civils who does not give the LA's a hard time, because he is one of their chief rivals in "sack-lab." Bill has the distinction of being perhaps the only member of the Corps who can stand on his hind legs and talk to Col. "Flapjack" without looking up. Old high-pockets has for four years now been one of the "first platoon boys" in that group of tooth-picks, "A" Company, and though he held down his place in the rear rank there, we can be sure he will be on the front rank in his future life.

James Paul Holley

Pierre Pierpont Holley, a most distinguished "meter-reader" of the EE department, has also been a young wonder with Army red tape and triplicate forms, doing a magnificent job with our own staff position of S-3. Could we ever forget his S-3 black-board with such things as "drill in raincoats"? But if Pierre can handle the future and the Army the way he has his career at the Institute, there is no telling what success he will obtain.

James William Horne III

Thomasville, Georgia

Armor Pre-Med.

Jim left the kindly sunshine of Georgia to come to the cold, cruel "North Country" of Lexington. Along with his beloved ukulele and even more beloved gospel songs he brought a warm-hearted and a good old Georgian personality. His easy going ways kept him smiling amidst the trials and tribulations of the dogfish and cats of "Doc" Carroll's Biology Department. After graduation Jim will return to his native state where he will pursue the study of dentistry.

The "Senator" isn't seen around barracks very much, but sometimes he strays away from his sack to throne—his shoe shine stool — and gives a lecture, or ventures uptown to see a movie. Nowhere in the Institute can a more diversified person be found where bits of information on any subject can be gotten just for the asking. Russ's good nature and sedate manner is never disturbed until he gets the urge to come forth with a bit of wisdom, then he is a martyr for his convictions. The senator has very few enemies due to his nonchalant attitude; "live and let live, and the world will take care of its self." His intelligence is respected by everyone, and he will someday fulfill his destiny, "The Senator."

Paul Conley Hudson

Out of a class of two-hundred and fifty Brother Rats, the '53's had to pick three men for their officers. What criteria are necessary to judge these men by? "Moose" is the personification of these standards. The old man stands rather short in stature, but he stands high in the esteem of his class. "Moose" has chosen the Army as a starting point in his career. Certainly no one is better equipped for the future than he.

Eugene Smith Jackson

Norfolk, Virginia
Artillery Civil Engineering

"Jarn Jack" was a dangerous kid when he had time to think. Rather quiet, always minded his own business, he was one of Uncle Buzz's hardest working civils. One thing we'll never forget about Gene—his attitude toward power and rank. He would rather take a dose of salts than carry a sash or sling a sash. Don't misunderstand us when we say that Gene was quiet and studious; Gene was quite a lover and gave several a pretty rough time. He knows what he wants in this world and he will make a big place for himself in anything he does.

Harry has been marked as a leader among us since our first year at the Institute. He has upheld the spirit of those essential qualities which go to make up what V. M. I. stands for. He has been a leader in all phases of the Barracks life. We as a class owe much to Harry, and we as a class not only realize that fact but we thank him for it. There would be little trouble in predicting Harry's future. We know that whatever he does he will do well.

Ernest S. Jones, Jr.

Air Force

History

Leaving his beloved home of Florida with its leisurely beach life in '49, Ernie came to the Institute in search of the typical college life. After a short while he became known to us as one with good taste for women, an all-round athlete, and a typical L. A. A naturally modest person, Ernie has taken his many honors in stride. If he succeeds in the Air Force as he has in the past, we know he will be wearing those silver stars some day.

"Sugar Dog", as he has become known since that fateful day in "Dodo's" third class English section, is well known throughout barracks. Gentleman, scholar, roue, and cadet waiter, S. D.'s activities have been as varied as his experiences at the Institute. Such positions as associate editor of the Turn-Out and the Cadet have gained him fame in the literary field while his humor, good nature, and constant readiness for a dance, bull-session or party have earned him equal renown of a different nature. Four years at V. M. I. without "Sugar Dog" would have been four dull years indeed.

Stanleigh Hopkins Jones, Jr.

"Strange" Stan, so called by his roomie "Odd" John, could more correctly be labeled '53's own Guy Fawkes. Although no "Gunpowder Plot", the "Great Blackout" of '52 will long be remembered by all of Stan's friends, including F. R. P. himself. When his incendiary activities allowed, S. H. found time to pursue a singular career in his field, Liberal Arts, co-edit the BOMB, and lend his unpredictable wit to classes, bull sessions and parties. Stan's career may not be brilliant but it is sure to be well lighted.

He plans to do this at no expense to himself, traveling with batteries of 105mm Howitzers in the Army's Field Artillery.

Artillery Civil Engineering

This Nebraska hay-barber apparently put the wide open spaces of the West to good use because for four years he has been one of the mainstays of the Cross Country and track teams. A man of unlimited talents and an inexhaustible worker, he will undoubtedly prove successful in any field he chooses.

Theodore Frank Mariani

After relegating the military aspects of V. M. I. to as inconsequential a level as possible, Ted proceeded to leave no stone unturned in his attempt to lead as full a life at V. M. I. as was possible. In this he was amazingly successful, as his record clearly indicates. His academic and athletic proficiency, many extra-curricular accomplishments, and keen appreciation of the finer things of life place him among the very top of the leaders of the Corps.

Edward Burk Marks

Morrisville, Pennsylvania

An advocate of nature and an authority of woodlore, our modern "Daniel Boone" spent much of his spare time tramping the banks of the Maury River. But his love of nature never kept him from the duties of his education, and as is the choice of all pre-meds he plans to get that Doctor title after a short hitch in the Army. Good luck, Burk, we know you will always turn in a good record of yourself and your achievements.

Donald MacLean Matheson

Port Washington, New York

Don or "Red" as he is known to us all has in his four years at V. M. I. developed into the complete and full intellect that typifies the true college man. He has maintained a high stand in his Electrical Engineering courses and at the same time is equally facile in the Fine Arts. Athletics, and the military have also held a prominent place in his curriculum. And yet, Don has still found time for the social phase of barracks life, including bridge at a tenth of a cent and the first stoop chess championship.

"Joto" has managed to rise close to the top of his L. A. class and stay in that position. His care of the Library must enable him to do this, because his roommates worry about his sleeping on the floor making his head flat. Unassumingly polite, Joe has impressed us with his horsensence, good humor and magic gift of talk.

Stuart McCloskey, Jr.

Rooming with such cronies as "The Kid," "Simo," and McClung, Mac has had ample time and inclination to party, play lengthy games of bridge and in general to raise a lot of V. M. I. hell on Saturday nights, but in spite of all these diverting influences he has come close to maxing his courses in his four years of exile from the mud-banks of Mississippi. He counts as not the least of his accomplishments the many feminine hearts he has broken in his trekking from one girls' school to another. We will know that 6-foot-three hulk anywhere in creation, even, as Dodo says, if we meet it on the Sahara Desert.

Mae has been a big boost and source of enjoyment to his Brother Rats since he first lightly tumbled the Rat Line. Big, good-natured, and well-liked by everyone, "Goose" has taken his four years of Institute life with a grin, which is something of an accomplishment in itself. A history major, Mae intends to make a little of his own after graduation. Personality, and a fine sense of humor gives him a head start in whatever he might do.

James Louis McLain

St. Louis, Illinois

History

James "Roman Nose" McLain, or more formally, "Stoneface" has left his imprint on the Institute in many fields. By dint of considerable effort and military know how, "Mac" has climbed the rocky ladder from private to "chief flunky" on Stoop's first battalion staff. Laying aside his sword for track shoes, the "tall one" can be found any afternoon running indoors, outdoors, rain or shine, year in and year out. V. M. I. track without the 1st battalion S-3 would be like Mae without his glasses. Mae will long be remembered by all who knew him and whose lives were enriched by his friendship.

James Warfield Meek

Mecky has been endeared to his bro' rats by his uncomplaining manners which have won him the title Father Meek. Captain Jim, leader of men, has done wonders with his yodeling apemen, and after many months of hard work, he has succeeded in keeping them in last place. Because of his diligence and ability to apply himself, Ohio's favorite son will be undaunted as he ventures into the hard cold world.

Franklin Oren Mikle

Mike is one Northern import who has found the Old South atmosphere to his liking. The lad from Utica has established quite a reputation around barracks as a devil with the ladies, and hardly a week end passes that he is not able to round up a girl, a party and a good time. Taking the rigors of the Civil Course and the regulations of the Institute with an indulgent smile, he still found time to win many friends and become a valuable member of the Glee Club.

George Tyler Miller, Jr.

A glance at Tyler's achievements during his four years at the Institute is proof enough of his ability and leadership. Active in practically every phase of life here at V. M. I., he has earned high posts in all the organizations which he has entered. In addition to this, his modesty and good nature have won him the friendship of all his brother rats. Tyler will enter the field of chemistry, and it appears that he already has one important formula in his possession—the formula for success.

Robert Sydnor Miller

Bobby came to the Institute in the Fall of 1949 from the "Holy City." He was a derivative of the Thomas Jefferson Cadet Corps and, as such, his military capabilities were soon recognized. Coming up, through the ranks he attained the second highest rank in his company. He has also lent his ability to the publications and the Hop Committee. His willingness to work and ability to produce results will earn him a niche in the business world which will in turn earn him great success.

Although "Mitch" came to V. M. I. as a Brother Rat of the '54's, he jumped right into the middle of things and has become one of "Uncle Buzz's" more prominent civils. Not one to allow his college education to interfere in his major interest—eating—Bruce became a cadet waiter at Club Crozet to further his already extensive study of foods. Well liked by all who know him, it is certain that his serious presence of mind and easy-going manner and humor will be a loss to V. M. I., but a great gain to the rest of the world.

Four years of V. M. I. have not deterred Chuck at all in regards to his future occupation—seeing Korea via medium tank. In the pursuit of this career, "Lobs" has not remained, thus far, inglorious, as evinced by his meteoric rise in the cadet ranks. Naturally he has "relaxed" occasionally for a private party, but has always somehow regained military equilibrium. It seems strange that such a military giant is to wed such a tiny beauty; perhaps their ultimate goal is another Napoleon!

Lawrence Lee Moise II

By putting two dots over the "i" you have Moise, L. L. II, characterized by a tuneless whistle as he saunters down the stoop. Regardless of the whistle, though, Larry has crooned carols for the cadets at Christmas-time for four cold years. His love of music has led him to a certain lovely red-head at the Music Box and the future looks as if it will bring strawberry blondes with it.

The State of Texas produces few who are able to live up to the boastful standards she places upon her sons, but Art is one of those few. Knowing Art as we do and glancing at his record as a cadet we are inclined to be so bold as to say that Texas should, and undoubtedly will be, proud and boastful of Art, even more so than Art is of Texas.

Now we have a new "Bogus" for the mess hall, and with pride we can still say that the food has not improved one iota. But "Munch" handles only the waiter problem, and he does pretty well at that. Always looking for a ride to Norfolk and that ever-loving gal of his, "Munch" is a familiar sight along the stoop, ducking the OD, bumming a cigarette, or just plain nosing around for a bull-session. We will not forget this great beefy fellow, and the PX will miss him as a coffee-drinker and juke box player extraordinary.

Floyd Lee Moore

Hopewell, Virginia

There is a whole crew here from Hopewell, and every one of them is different. And no less individual is "Floogie." Complementing his civil course with an extensive lab in the sack, the Floogie is fast becoming one of those delicately classified in barracks as LA's. But in the bed or out of it, it is a sure thing that a guy with a personality such as "Floogie" has will get along fine in life.

"This Hulk" came to V. M. I. already bearing the delicate nickname of "Pinky" and in these callous four walls, oddly enough, it has stuck. Chief transit handler, lover of hats, custodian of the sloppiest pair of boots in the corps, Pinky is the modern man's answer to how to dress snavely. "Live hard and love it" is his motto and if you've ever been on a party with him you will see that he keeps faithful to it. Then there was the day the cat got in the room and—Ah, but Pinky can tell you that one.

"Tee" will be remembered by his Brother Rats as one of the greatest personalities ever to spend four years at V. M. I. He was never missing when party-time rolled around, and his antics always added that extra spark. Dan has been, perhaps, best known for his stringent enforcement of General Committee and Honor Court rules, a sense of duty, and a love of the V. M. I. principles. That occasionally Prussianistic outlook, however, has not prevented him from being an outstanding liberal arts student, in fact, he has spent just as much, if not more time in the "sack," than any other English major. He is one of the rare multi-colored personalities that is occasionally found at the Institute. His never failing sense of duty and his understanding of people will undoubtedly make him outstanding in any society.

Hall leopard hunt, his impersonation to perfection of his idol Col. Frankus Pancakeus Erectus, and the general merry antics of his whole troupe of ushers pointed up his sparkling wit. These qualities, coupled with his level-headed good nature should open a wealth of opportunity to him in the future.

Personality and subtle wit are two important characteristics of this staunch southerner. Johnny breezed through his productive years at the Institute satisfied that anything could be helped by a smile or quick nap. Always on hand to instigate a new "deal" or perhaps another party, the "ball-headed wonder" seemed to have a finger in every proverbial pie. The business world will receive a valuable asset when John enters in its ranks after his tour with Uncle Sam.

Thomas William Nelson, Jr.

"Willie" came to us from the wilds of the Texas coast and for four years has managed to keep his major in Chemistry from interfering with his three loves — partying, flying, and sleeping. One of the few who loves an airplane more than anything, "Willie" hopes to become one of Uncle Sam's stovepipe jockeys and make a career of the Air Force. He is the type of man whom we admire, like, and trust, and we know he will make a success.

Walter Herbert Newton

It was a hard-boiled "Old Sarge" who came to the South fresh out of the Army and overseas, but he accepted the rat line as a necessary evil to be passed before the light opened up his way for him. For some time, chief sweeper and keeper of the civilian clothes rooms and the subterranean vaults known as the trunk rooms, Newt managed to get a black edge round his name on F. R. P.'s little list, but it never remained there long. Certainly all us privates will remember him as the gracious dispenser of sabres, sashes, pins, frogs and chewed up black belts from the little green (it's always green) box under his window.

William Cedric Noell, Jr.

Permits were Cedric's goal during his rat year, so he happily joined the Methodist Club, rising in time to its presidency. In this position he was able and went to bestow upon his Brer Rats and others small tokens of friendship (three-day furloughs), no few of which he managed for himself. But then the same old story was repeated and a lass appeared on the scene. The laughing boy turned serious and began taking furloughs in only one direction. Another good cadet bit the dust as a good influence was brought to bear.

Robert Rucker Outland

Richmond, Virginia

Infantry History

"Bob" came to V. M. I. with two bright shining goals; to get a military education and to lower the standards of the social hour. Four years of military autoceracy have not dimmed those shining goals. Having chosen a former company commander as his ideal, Bob has his work cut out for him. V. M. I. has served to diminish Bob's distaste of the feminine population. The secret of his success lies in the fact that he makes no promises and carries only a small bottle.

Richard Harwood Pearce

Birmingham, Alabama

Infantry History

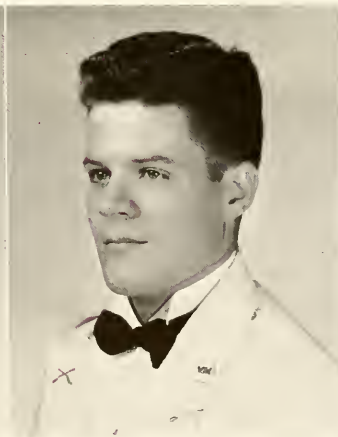

Here is one really unusual third class rat. He came out of the rat line and immediately sewed on his sergeant stripes, and then he went on the next year to become a lieutenant. Few men do this at V. M. I. Of quiet demeanor, Dick has made a place for himself at the Institute, and it is with a genuine sense of gain that the '53's claim him.

Robert Virginus Perkins, Jr.

Richmond, Virginia

Air Force Pre-Medical

Bob, better known to all of us as "Boho", has done more and seen more around V. M. I. than most of us. There are two reasons for this; first and foremost is because he says so, and secondly, because he has a one year advantage on us. When you go to a football game and see a bunch of girls and one long, lanky cheerleader in the middle—guess who? "Boho". However one little gal from Richmond is putting the ball and chain on him come June. With Bob's good humor and easy manner, combined with his sincerity, he will be a success wherever he is. Good luck "Boho" and Jean Anne.

In four years he has gained an education, one of the highest positions in the Corps, and the latest sink gossip has it that "Stoop" has also acquired a Mrs. As adjutant on "Turnabout Day" or as Battalion Commander here he is one long-drink-of-water we will not soon forget.

One of the more industrious members of Uncle Buzz's boy basement builders, he concentrated on his studies with the exception of his devotion to the Track team. His managerial abilities were put to and passed the supreme test as Track, of all sports, requires constant and grueling supervision by its managers.

David Fulsam Rice, Jr.

Air Force Civil Engineering

One of the "flying" members of the Air Force, Dave has spent a good part of his four years shuttling from Lexington to another metropolis of the South, Hamlet, North Carolina. If he doesn't lose his sight from peering through transits (surveying), he'll soon be flying Uncle Sam's firebirds.

The hallowed halls of the "liquid lunch" will never be the same without Dave, even though much of his spare time was spent hunting and fishing. A not so avid fan of "Carrolology," Dave plans his future with the Air Force, a convertible, and a beautiful wife. With his smiles and wit, we know he will get what he wants in a hurry—even those big silver eagles.

It has been said that "A" Co., stopped winning parades and competitive drills when Bob got out of the rat line, but this would not really do him justice. Never one to worry about stripes or demerits, Bob has more than successfully completed the C. E. course as well as finding time for numerous explorations to the "Sem." and other lesser-known local spots of interest. The Air Force will claim Bob in June and we know he will go far in later life.

Despite a prominent spot on the grunt and groan team Walt's favorite title, and the one for which he will be longest remembered, is that of President of that group of latter day Carrie Nations the M. D. A. (Milk Drinkers of America). His Civil course did not prevent him from following his artistic inclinations on the Glee team and the Art staffs of both the BOMB and the Turn-Out. Here is one with a well-rounded education and physique.

Thomas Jeter Schermerhorn

Glen Allen, Virginia

Air Force

Biology

During his cadetship, T. S. has proved to be a noteworthy figure at the Institute. His most outstanding ability consists in getting permits approved. The reasons for his permits are numerous: such variety as keeping bees, or attending this and that meeting at Madison College. We feel sure that Dr. Schermerhorn will make his mark on society, whether in the annals of the medical profession, or as a genuine natural scientist.

Albert Kolbet Schrichte

Indianapolis, Indiana

Air Force

History

It's hard to say just who is the greater salesman and entrepreneur in barracks, Bogus Cury or Ipsell Schrichte, but he heads the sandwich enterprises, along with beer mugs, cuff links, ice cream, newspapers, and an infinity of other articles. Past-master of Russian and German, the "Al" claims close connection to "Der Master Race," and along with compeer Murdaugh is an avid reader of things German. "The Nose" will stride through life with much success if his four years here at V. M. I. are any indication of what his future will be like.

A good-natured friend to all, he has fitted easily into our class and his popularity and good sense have made him one of the boys.

Walter Wyatt Shorter

Using the Main Sinks as his recruiting headquarters, Wyatt has been the most avid but least successful of the recruiting agents for the Marines. Hand-to-hand instructor superb, weight-lifter extraordinary, here is probably the most enthusiastic Marine-monger in barracks. If there is going to be another war, Wyatt is one we can depend upon to shorten it a bit.

Peter Simonson

New Orleans, Louisiana

History

Since cray fish bisque or crab gumbo was not on the menu in "Club Crozet," Pete has managed to keep that hungry look for four long years. Starting out as a civil engineer, Pete saw that a liberal education was much the better of the two and switched over mainly for the sack lab required. One should not be deceived by the lackadaisical attitude for under the exterior lies a nature whose affinity for other people is astounding. Pete won't be forgotten.

William Rembert Simpson, Jr.

Back in '48 Rem decided to forsake the grocery business for the V. M. I. Rat Line. He must have brought some of his business ability with him, for he has continually amazed his roommates with his ability to turn a fast buck. Rem has had more irons in the fire during his cadetship than any other ten men. His "deals" have taught him more about the Institute than he could have learned if he had been here for twice four years.

Having learned the meaning of freedom the hard way and taken "Uncle Buzz's" good advice and philosophy to heart, Buddy will be able to make full-use of his sincerity and likeable personality in getting to the top.

Immediately upon arrival at the Institute from Charlottesville, George set about the task of becoming a doctor. He entered a course which required constant attention. He has emerged. Moving smilingly through the obstacles which he encountered, George should be well prepared to follow his medical field.

Robert Anthony Sovik, Jr.

Civil Engineering

Bob is THE typical Civil. "When he first came to V. M. I. he couldn't even spell engineer—now he are one." A brer rat of the Class of '54, he conquered the rat line while becoming one to the top men in his class academically. He has been given the title of "Slide Rule" by his classmates, and it is rather fitting. Bob does not expect to make the Air Force a career; he is strictly a civilian at heart. Wherever Bob goes, the memories of rathood days and his ever-present cane will be subject for comment.

Frank Edward Spencer, Jr.

Natural Bridge, Virginia
Air Force      Civil Engineering

This limber-limbed loper from near Lexington locked the decision on more than one track meet. Frank is one of the few really selfmade athletes at V. M. I., he arrived without any real previous training and, through sheer perseverance, turned himself into a top track man. Frank showed the same virtue in all the rest of his endeavors not the least of which was the making of friends at the Institute.

John Edward Speth

Garden City, Long Island, New York
Air Force      Electrical Engineering

"Jon Von Speth," famous artist, leaves V. M. I. somewhat artist-less, but not artless. The BOMB, the Turn-Out and the Cadet have all tasted of his talents and erred for more. A hard worker at things he is interested in, John somehow never got interested in the E.E., and still he ranked in the top quarter of his class. "Jawn" has high ideas for the future and high they will be since he leaves for flight school in September to try his hand at jets. The S. W. corner club is behind him and we all wish him the best of luck.

Charles Robert Steward

Coolidge, Arizona
Air Force      History

The title of First Captain of the corps of radets at V. M. I. carries in itself the connotation of a leader and a man of intelligent ability. But Charlie has added even more to that distinction. He has carried out the job of First Captain with perfection and has been one of the leading figures in the outer-military-world as well. We will remember Charlie for his unlimited ability, but we will also remember him as a friend and an all around "good guy."

Richard Lee Stillwell

Luray, Virginia

Air Force

Civil Engineering

"Vinegar Joe" arrived at the Institute from Luray, Virginia, and soon made his academic ability known. In the succeeding years he carefully followed Col. Bates' "curve of normal distribution" by becoming one of the top-ranking sergeants and then relegating himself to the rearmost rank as a first class private. Entrepreneur of the New York paper and good will, "Uncle Joe" will long be one that we think back on with a laugh and many fond memories.

Thomas Bay Streett, Jr.

Baltimore, Maryland

Young looking Tom will always be remembered by those who have seen him playing on the parade ground during all hours, for he was never one to let a moment slip by uselessly. Many were the weekends that he could be seen inside his "maroon likkie bucket" headed for parts unknown. How many of the girls' schools have been broken up by this baby-face? You guess. Tommy leaves V. M. I. as a "scholar and a gentleman," but it is a Southern Gentleman, because he just got in under the Mason-Dixon Line by the skin of his . . . .

"Jeb" has been one of the few brother rats who have kept the same girl he dated his Ring Figure, and we can understand why—the young lady knows something good when she sees it. Dave is a quiet, good-natured individual who plans big things for the future, and knowing Dave, we know that those plans will be fulfilled. To Dave our best wishes for a great future that lies ahead of him.

Richard Frederick Taferner

Dick has splashed his way to victory after victory on the swimming team these past four years, and now he is heading for his biggest job yet. Uncle Sam will be his keeper while he is in the regular Army, and knowing Dick he will come out on top of the pile. Here's hoping that all those knives he has collected can remain in their cases and sheaths.

John Vincent Thompson

Johnny should have known better than to come to V. M. I., for nobody knows how many times some Brother Rat has yelled, "I'd rather be dead than red on the head!" But Red takes it in his stride, and now he has spent four years with the rest of us (most of us) and has done well in all that he has undertaken. Knowing Johnny, we expect him to be the largest contractor in the South within the next twenty years.

John Minor Townes III

Richmond, Virginia
Civil Engineering

Jack will always be remembered as the greatest friend a rat ever had. His shrill voice is familiar to all underclassmen who once voted him the "bit of the week." A member of the faithful four, Jack was active in many Institute activities and between trips to Richmond, still found time to tramp the hills around Lexington. As to future plans, he is undecided. Uncle Sam has first choice on him and then he will enter some phase of engineering.

Jack Walden Trigg, Jr.

Birmingham, Alabama

Air Force

Chemistry

Entering V. M. I. with the intention of graduating with a degree in one of the Institute's most difficult courses, Jack took it upon himself to take extra courses as well. Achieving amazing success in his academic field, Jack did not confine his efforts to his studies. He became a First Lieutenant in the Corps as well as President of the Hop Committee. Deciding on the Medical field for a career, Jack's innate good sense and amiability should serve him well.

Winfree Powell Tuck

Lynchburg, Virginia

Air Force

Electrical Engineering

If you have ever seen that red PT-19 airplane flying in lazy circles round the Institute on clear weekend afternoons, you can bet your bottom dollar that Win Tuck is at the controls. When not in his plane, you could find him tinkering with somebody's radio strewn all over the room. But no one could touch him at radio repairing in barracks. In his stay here, Win claims to have set two records; he was the only second classman to be sent to company room, and he blistered his feet setting a new record on penalty tour road. He was a brother rat of the '52's, but his easy-going, generous manner will be well remembered by all of us.

Glenn Houston Van Eman

Houston, Texas

Artillery

History

Glenn Van Eman, the only Brother Rat of '55 to graduate with the Class of '53, is a unique cadet, as his two years at V. M. I. have shown. After finishing his first two years of college at Kemper Military School, he reported to V. M. I. as a rounded cadet. He is one of the few Texans to leave V. M. I. with the same outlook on life as he had when he entered and we hope his immediate future as an Artillery F. O. will not dim his chances of achieving his ambition of being a retired Texas oilman.

Anthony Michael Vitale

Boston, Massachusetts

"Tony" is always ready with the witty answer, and the energy needed to carry a thing through. He can switch from studiousness to levity at the drop of a hat—as will testify his own battered barracks cap. He has spent his time here in the two fields—Engineering and week ends—that have most interested him; he has won the admiration of his Brother Rats through his initiative and vitality. "Break my arm, but don't mess my hair."

Carlton Pinney Weidenthal

Hudson, Ohio

Artillery

Biology

Not only has "Weedie" been a star pupil of "Butch" Ritchey's Organic class, but he has had a hand in almost every cadet activity in barracks. Another one of "F" Company's apemen, Carl has shown an ability of leadership that will surely carry him far in his future life. Many is the time he has borne the brunt of Pogo Bickmore's practical jokes, but he has managed to live through them. At drill he is as anxious to take off that sabre as any private is to lay down the accursed rifle, and it is not uncommon to hear him say, "O.K., boys, just once more round the drill area and we'll go in." A sparkling wit in ranks as well as in barracks.

Benjamin Viers White

Leesburg, Virginia

History

Here is one of V. M. I.'s finest, who is claiming residence in the same town with another of her finest, George Marshall. "Mr. Max" hails from the deeeep South, in fact it is a good deal deeper south than Florida—his home is Buenos Aires, but he says, "By God, I've found myself a home—V. M. I." This man holds all the cards in all the bridge games here in barracks, and we know that when the great shuffle comes after we get out, he will be there in spades and ace high.

Tom may not always have been the happiest man in barracks, but he was always the most content. "Apollo" will be remembered for his short weekends and even shorter love affairs. "Happy Days," as he is sometimes called always has a smile ready for the bleakest experience. Although devoting most of his time to math problems and Barbara, Red can always find time to lend a hand to his brother rats in assignments. Ever since matriculation, Red and M. Either as a high-powered mathematician or just a family man, the friendly undertaker will go to the top.

Charles Harmon Williams, Jr.

Charlottesville, Virginia
Armor History

If there was ever anyone complaining about anything in barracks, Harmon was likely to be that one. However, his good-natured personality was often seen across the blanket-covered table in a heated bridge or poker game. Never seen in barracks on the week ends but found in every room on the first stoop during the week, Harmon—the lover—will long be remembered by all his brer rats as a helluva good boy to have along when anything was cooking.

Bill was one of the few true scholars among us. The fact that he was the only BR who wore stars for four years illustrates his brilliant academic record. Not limiting himself to academic achievements alone, Willie was outstanding in extracurricular activities as well. His chief sport was the Rifle Team. Characterized by his cheerfulness and—like all true scholars—absent-mindedness, Bill was always willing to take time from his studies to help others who were having troubles with their academics. Many of us owe our understanding of a subject to his patient coaching. When this quiet, serious-minded lad finishes graduate school, Einstein will find that he has an able competitor.

You see pictured above nature's own little automaton. The Rat Line was never negotiated with more precision than it was by "Slick." Judged the "best dressed" man in his high school class, he set about to continuing his reputation in Cadet grey. Deciding to subject himself to the rigors of the Chemistry department, Slick displayed as much verve academically as he did militarily. It was a diffident, bashful "Punch" who was propelled into barracks that cataclysmic day in September, 1949: he said nothing to his roommates for the first week. Since then, his voice has remained that of sardonic confidence amid the chaos of barracks life. His gift of malapropism and engaging smile have, nevertheless, revealed his innate good humor. Excepting the influences of Buzz's edification and a complex quiet-life, Dick departs much the same individual who joined us four years ago.

The "little one" entered V. M. I. with a long line of Witt tradition to uphold. He leaves the Institute with his share upheld. The Nemesis of Luke's stay was old "Ollie." "Ollie" and Luke never met without a word passing between them about some grossness or other. Then too, Luke, alias the "Stoop Trotter," never missed a bull session, which should prove valuable at Wahooland law school. Everyone is going to miss the biggest little man of '53.

Yin Sik Wong

Yin hit the rat line with a smile and hasn't stopped yet. Probably the quietest of his Brother Rats, Yin likes a party as well as anybody, readily entering into the fun, but never becoming any more aroused than we have known him to be. A pre-med and a serious student, he has worked hard and conscientiously toward entering medical school. Yin will be packing off to not-so-far-from-home L. S. U. in the fall for his M.D., which he should gain without much trouble in the near future. The future he has picked will be a hard one, but will be a satisfying one for him.

William Sharples Derrick Woods, Jr.

Room 231 has more than fame; it has prestige. F. R. P. himself has sojourned with those boys enough to give "Guzzler" a free set of round trip tickets to the infamous second bridge on PT road. Bomb work became a major with him late this year and aside from making a confirmed night owl of him it made his nervous system a bit more ragged by the unannounced entrance of the fabled Major Ax at a crucial moment. It takes a long "forgettery" to lose sight of such a unique mixture of guitarist, singer, swift hack in football, public speaker outstanding and companion par excellence.

Clement Lee Woodward

Armor Civil Engineering

"Mickey" came to us from the "Holy City" with a knowledge of all things Military. He was evidently disappointed at V. M. I.'s not being like a page from Kipling. A member of the "Faithful Four," he had no trouble in making himself popular among his Brother Rats. He will succeed in later life as he has here—by being natural.

The "Guv'nor" earned his nickname early and lived up to it well during his career as a cadet. Although he did not approve of the V. M. I. mode of life, he bore the slings and arrows, and came up on top, forever prepared with a witty saying and a raucous "Breep." No philosophical discussion was ever complete without the astute contributions of this Alexandria gentleman.

Frank Taylor Wooton, Jr.

Putting on the "college hat" air, Frank greeted a few of the more timid boys that frightful day in September. The next thing he knew he was a Brother Rat and beginning on the long road to education and completion of tours, leading both details. Down the four stoops he went, and with each successive year his laughter became more frequent as he tried to cram the campus life into the military. Years will only add more stories of congeniality through Frank's sought-after friendship, and in the future we will surely cross many of his bridges.

Edgar Anderson Woy

Edgar came to us as an athlete with a promising future. He not only lived up to expectations as that promising athlete, but he went even further, and at the end of four years we can look back on Ed as a leader in, out, and around the Institute. An excellent student in one of the hardest courses V. M. I. offers and a member of the V. M. I. Honor Court, this tall, friendly Tennesseean has made friends as easily as he has made his fine record.

Although Kwok is not a member of the Brother Rat Class of 1953, his three years at the Institute have earned him many friends both in his academic and Brother Rat class. Kwok displays a quiet disposition, a big smile, and he has diligently and sincerely pursued his ambitions. Possessing the two qualities necessary for any achievement—intelligence and disposition—we know that he will speedily climb the ladder of success. Good Luck Kwok.

Warren has the pleasant ability to mix easy going manners with determination. In the fields of sports he has entered, he has been an extremely dependable Athlete. In Barracks activities, his excellent disposition and never-failing humor have won our admiration and friendship. In scholastics he has set an example of determination that cannot fail to be impressive. With such qualifications we are sure that Warren will go far in our world, and will make V. M. I. proud of him.

History of the Class of 1953

As the Class of 1953 is graduated, it will be placed in a world in which the forces of greed and avarice threaten to shatter an already uneasy peace. These chaotic conditions magnify immeasurably the importance of our graduation.

Many of us have for some time been planning civilian careers; graduate schools, engineering, teaching, business careers, and medical schools all figure prominently in the immediate future. These must now be put aside in favor of military service. Our duty is clear to us and we have a strong faith that the class will carry out this duty in the best VMI tradition. While preparing for our military service, however, we must not lose sight of the fact that when we return from the conflict we must be prepared to take our places as citizens and, as such, assume the responsibilities of maintaining our democracy and system of free enterprise.

It is clear that as our years of formal education are coming to a close our

[illegible]

There are events that have highlighted our years here at VMI, but they are spread throughout this book. We have seen our stepoffs, our resurrections, our class war. We have had our parties, gone to the dances, gotten our rings at Ring Figure. We have known every aspect of VMI — known it and loved it, and in that respect we are typical of VMI. The class has left its impression on VMI, but far deeper is the impression that VMI has made upon us. With this stamp upon us we can confidently face the question: What kind of an impression will the class leave upon the world? If we can keep the basic tenets learned here strong in our hearts, that impression will be a good one. We must remember that as our life as VMI cadets is concluded our life and careers as VMI men is only beginning.

SECOND CLASS OFFICERS 1954

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1954

It was a dismal day that 6th of September, 1950, when about three hundred and fifty high school graduates entered Jackson Arch to become the class of nineteen-hundred and fifty-four. Some of these men were aware of what they might encounter during the year, but many had no idea of VMI's traditions. Most of these men stayed to sweat it out in the rat line and altered their usual way of life to live in an entirely new system. The days went slowly at first, but as time went on and football games highlighted each weekend the days to Christmas seemed very few. Christmas furlough came and went before we really realized it was here.

Midwinter dances provided a break in the routine and a relief after exams. Everyone looked forward to the Spring vacation which was the first time the Corps had been granted this privilege.

We elected an able group of officers to lead us through our cadetship, those being Tommy Armstrong, Bill Berry and Jack Daniels. On Founder's Day, May 15, we were scheduled to get out of the rat line, however the upper classes lengthened our rat status until June 3rd. Marshall Arch was dedicated on May 15th that year with a highly eventful ceremony for our distinguished alumnus. We left VMI on the 9th of June with happy hearts and sincere desires to develop a strong and united class spirit.

Many of us returned early with the cadre in September and renewed our many friendship ties. Administering the rat line was our main responsibility as a class for that year. A tightening of regulations by the Institute made this a little difficult. On the grid-iron, several of our Brother Rats distinguished themselves and helped the Big Red to gain the title of Co-Champions of the Southern Conference.

The Honor Court was reorganized at the end of the first semester resulting in Jack Daniels' resignation as class historian when he, along with Bill Saterfield and John Diugnid, was elected to the Honor Court.

Swan Yerger was elected the new class historian. Upon Bill Saterfield's resignation from VMI, Don Dunlap was chosen to take his position of the Honor Court.

At the beginning of our Second Class year Larry Dougherty was elected to take Yerger's place as class historian. At this time the Ring Committee had drawn up a ring of which we are all very proud. The Ring Figure Committee was then working on the details necessary for such a fabulous weekend. The night after the Turkey Bowl we had a banquet in Roanoke's Patrick Henry Hotel to which our parents, who came from far and near, were the guests of honor. It was a wonderful feeling having our parents meet each other, many for the first time.

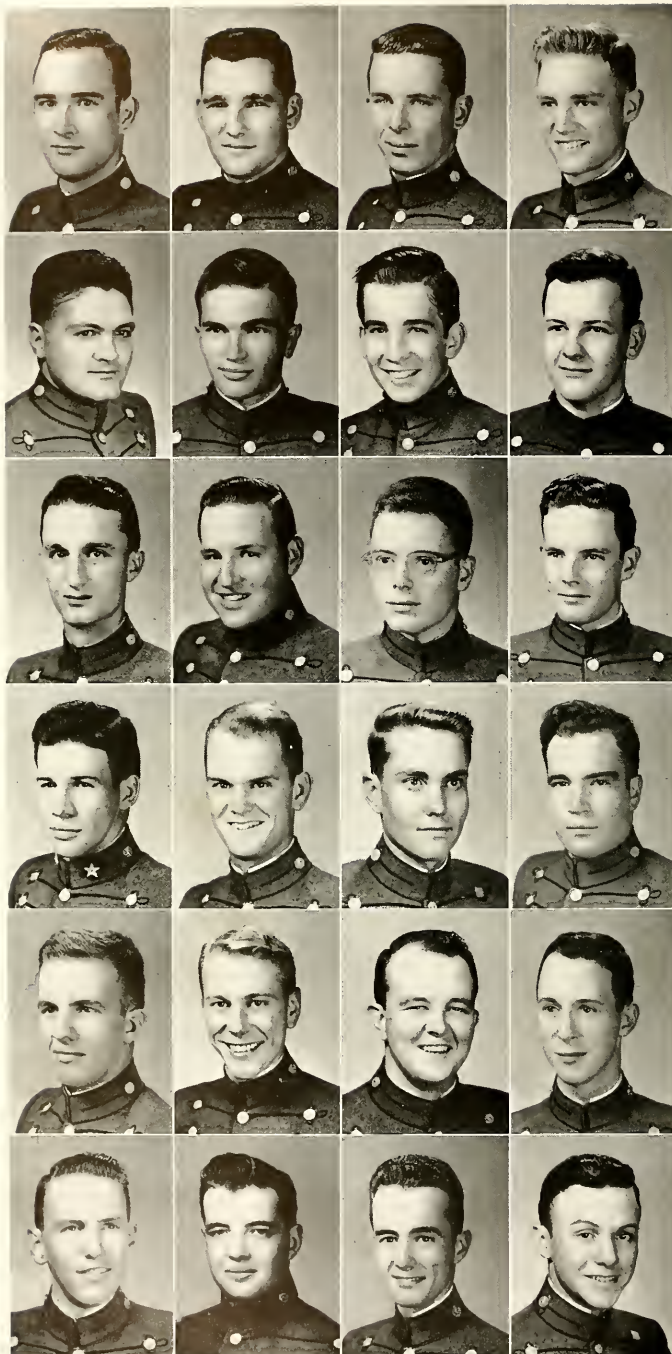

We were proud and honored this year as we escorted Governor Battle in President Eisenhower's Inaugural Parade. The experience was thrilling and the praise was sincerely appreciated.

Many men in the Class of 1954 will find themselves in ROTC summer camps all over the country this summer, putting into practice their learning gotten here at VMI. We all know that this crisis our country faces is not likely to find a sudden and complete ending, and therefore we must prepare ourselves for our country's needs.

With this year coming to a close, we look toward next year with an earnest desire to take over and reign as the governing body in barracks. Our class has come a long way since our rat year, gaining knowledge from the trials and tribulations which we have encountered along with the more pleasant aspects of cadet life. This knowledge gained through classroom studies as well as through military discipline will enable us to carry out the important duties which we will inherit. Changes always seem inevitable as the new first class is inaugurated, and we feel very confident that the Class of 1954 will take over the reins handed to them by a very able first class and guide the Corps to a new height of prestige before they depart in June 1954.

THIRD CLASS OFFICERS 1955

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1955

"Pull that chin in; rack those shoulders back"—yes those days are gone forever, but they are never to be forgotten. As long as we live we will never forget what a dreary day September 5, 1951, seemed to a group of a little over four hundred men, later to be the Class of 1955. As we walked into Jackson Arch and saw the inner walls of VMI for the first time, we thought that maybe somebody had told us the wrong thing about this place. Bang! Just that quick and we were all rats, the lowest of the earth's creatures. No sooner were we in barracks than we had our chins hidden under our collars—for nine long months to come. We thought this was rough, but when the Corps returned several of our Brother Rats to be decided definitely not "to be." It was not long before we were full grown rats and began to catch on to the VMI system.

Football season made the first few months of the year pass rather quickly, for we got out of the rat line three times when the team chalked up important wins on the field. We made the best use of these breathing spells, for we knew that a roaring "resurrection" would soon follow.

It seemed that we had time only to drill, drive and strain in those first few months; studies seemed only a secondary matter. Those shoes had to be shined before we could hit those books. It took quite a while for us to get acquainted with each other, for there were few social events outside of the dances. Naturally we took advantage of these.

Our rat year will never be forgotten—not only by our class and VMI itself but by VMI men the country over. One lonely night in December, we all took a long walk through the valley. Barracks really was in a roar and tumult that night. Even the town-folk heard us—and we were rats. From that time on our class became a closely knit body.

May 16, 1952, finally arrived and we became a class. Once again we felt like human beings. Now that we could become organized, we held our class elections, choosing for our leaders in the year to come Jim Massie, Bill Conpland and Royce Jones. Our big and only event of the year as a class was our Finals picnic. This was our first chance to really get together with everybody outside barracks, and we really made it a memorable occasion. Another memory to pack away.

Upon our return in September of 1952 we had a new responsibility as a class—the new third class. It was our job to administer the rat line we had recently vacated. Now with a slightly smaller class, but still the largest in barracks, we took on this new job.

The '55 Ring Committee started working early in the year toward plans for our class ring. Norman Harris was appointed chairman of this committee and has plans almost complete for our ring. The Emblem Committee completed their plans and purchases of our class emblems recently also.

One of the important events of our third class year was the election of our representatives to the VMI Honor Court. To Bob Filer, Jud Leech and Norman Harris went the burden of this high office. As changes come and as we meet them we hope to live up to Colonel Preston's standard of "fair specimen of citizen soldiers." We look forward to our two remaining years in hopes of reaping the many benefits from such a place as VMI, and we seek ever to make the school a better one for those who come after us.

THE FOURTH CLASS 1956

HISTORY OF THE CLASS OF 1956

When we entered Jackson Arch for the first time in the fall of 1952, we found ourselves in an entirely new world, a new life, a life strange to us, but one which we had to learn. The first few days of the rat line were not so tough as they were bewildering. There were so many new things to learn and in such a short time; it will be four years before we have learned it all. Our trying first week was culminated with a rat picnic—an innovation this year, and something that caused many a lifted eyebrow among the upper classmen. That was the calm before the storm of returning upper classmen, and their return was the first big change for us since we arrived here. Early Monday morning we discovered that the picnic was really over. The upper classes came down upon us in all their "sound and fury," and at last our fearful expectations had become a reality. In the days that followed we found ourselves becoming somewhat adjusted to the life of a rat, however, throughout the year we were always looking forward to some event that would relieve the tension of the daily routine.

The first of such opportunities came with the opening game of the football season against William and Mary. Though the contest ended in defeat, being away from the Institute and the rat line for a day was thoroughly enjoyed by all of us. We were anxiously looking forward to our first grid-iron victory, as we had heard that at that time we would get out of the rat line for a while. Finally we met with success four weeks later with a win over Richmond.

As tough as we thought the daily life was, we did not appreciate how much worse things could be until our first resurrection rolled around. We ran and ran round the stoops until we thought we could take it no longer, but something kept us going, and when it was finally over we were content to be able to walk the rat line again.

On December 20th the big break came—Christmas furlough. Ah, fourteen days of glorious living! Then we had our first taste of VMI exams. After exams came a new semester and a new resurrection. Events lagged until Spring furlough came along. Returning, we could visualize the end of our rat year, but this could not come without the feared and famous "Bloody Sunday" and the final company room.

At last! We are the Class of 1956, but time is running out. After the election of our officers we really thought of ourselves as important personages, but the Institute is the one to put us in our proper places now. The remaining part of the year was spent in preparing the final exams and looking forward to the Final Hops that followed. The hops proved to be all we had hoped for or ever expected.

With weary but happy hearts we packed our belongings and said our goodbyes. As limits gates were left behind us we felt proud to be a part of VMI and began thinking as a class, the Class of 1956.

THE ACTIVITIES

The Honor Court

VMI prides herself more than anything else on the sense of honor that her cadets and her graduates have deep within them. It is the duty of the members of the Honor Court to deal with matters of honor and decency within the Corps and to take the necessary steps of action. No body of cadets has a more important function than the Honor Court, and they stand for one of the main pillars of VMI's strength.

Sitting: Jones, Steward, McCarthy (Vice President), Johnston (President), Brown, Woy

Standing: Daniel, Dunlap, Cheatham, Gilbert, Diuguid, Lund

The General Committee

As the cadets' government in barracks and outside, the General Committee has an importance that ranks with that of the Honor Court. Made up of the class officers of the three upper classes, the General Committee supervises the running of the rat line and enforces class privileges. Its most important function, however, is the promotion of conduct becoming a gentleman and a soldier.

Sitting: Townes, Mariani, Murdaugh, Cross (President), Hudson (Vice President), Bonnett

Standing: Armstrong, Massie, Coupland, Dougherty, Berry, Jones

The Glee Club

Colonel Herbert N. Dillard and First Lt. William W. Kelly, directors of the Glee Club.

The Commanders

Not only have the VMI Commanders played for our own Mid-Winter dances, but they have played successfully for several schools other than VMI. Made up now entirely of cadets, they give the Corps something to look forward to when they are chosen to play for any of the hops, and the organization gives some of those musically inclined an outlet for their talent.

The Cadet is probably one of the most important agents of the Corps. Because of the fact that it comes out every week, it has the opportunity of expressing the feelings of the Corps in matters which need the immediate attention of the authorities. The influence of the editorials which appear weekly in the paper have served as a barometer of the attitude of the Corps. The staff of the periodical has built the prestige of the paper back up to the standards which it previously required as part of its editorial policy. The administration reads the paper much more carefully than it is given credit for. The policy of the paper has been to present any valid contention which the Corps might have towards a contested decision. Then, after the side of the Corps was presented, a concrete solution was offered. Also, faults in the Corps itself were brought to the attention of the men in the Corps and solutions were offered in each case.

The Cadet has also served to inform the members of the alumni who subscribed to the news which evolved daily in the Corps. There was an innovation in this year's paper. The staff started the policy of printing eight pages instead of six. In this way the paper could offer more features and with the extra advertising, more pictures could be bought. The paper made some mistakes, but the good points far overshadowed the bad ones.

It is through the untiring efforts of the Hop Committee and its advisor, Colonel Moseley, that the Corps enjoys its yearly schedule of dances. A tremendous amount of work goes into such projects, and when the gym finally stands decked with its streamers and canopy the members of the Hop and Floor Committees may well be proud. To them goes a vote of thanks from the Corps.

CADET WAITERS

Nobody knows just where the cadet waiters' picture should go, so it is included under the activities. This year has seen many changes and innovations, not the least of which was the creation of a staff of waiters composed of first class privates from the Corps. So far the experiment has worked well, and it is the hope of most of the Corps that it will be continued.

THE MONOGRAM MINSTREL

Every so often the Institute must bear the brunt of some sort of satire, and the greatest leg-puller round the Institute is the annual Monogram Minstrel. Nothing is so sacred or hallowed that comment cannot be made upon it by the cavorting end-men, and the authorities always receive a dusting that they never forget. It is all in fun, however, and those who are the targets of withering remarks from the stage go off laughing as much as any other member of the audience. From Colonel Pancake's whip-lashing entrance to the take-off on the current comedy team of Dean Martin and Jerry Lewis old J. M. Hall rocked with laughter, proving that this year's Minstrel was as much fun (or more) than those in the past.

1953

The V. M. I. Ring Figure is probably the most romantic of all Southern college dances, and it attracts the cream of the Southern belles. The dance is highlighted by the figure itself and the passage through the arches where the cadet's date places the long-awaited ring on his finger, and very often the action is reciprocated with a miniature. This is the bright light of the second class year and is eagerly looked forward to by the under classes, while the first class looks back with nostalgia. It is an event that a girl who has gone through the figure does not soon forget, and it is one that no V. M. I. cadet ever forgets.

PAUL CARLTON, captain of this year's Big Red — rugged center of VMI's line—started as first string last season ('51)—as a cadet lieutenant, as leader in the Corps as well as on the grid-iron—teammates call him "Pop"—earned letters in track, baseball, basketball and football at Manlius Prep in Syracuse, from whence 'the old man' hails—anyone who has ever heard the great bull voice of Paul Carleton will never forget it.

TOM NUGENT, Head Football Coach—has coached both Air Force and civilian teams—spent three years in high school coaching before taking over VMI's team in '49—since 1950 he has also been VMI's Athletic Director — great optimist — sports rank on par with oxygen with him—endlessly working, he has made many improvements in the athletic equipment and facilities — well-known throughout the Southern Conference — highly respected — really makes the boys hustle, and hustle they do—though he leaves the Institute this year, VMI will never forget him.

Herb Patchin

A wonder-worker in the training room. Among the best-known and most well-liked personalities on the Post. Finished up his 25th year as trainer and Head of the Dept. of Physical Education. A real asset to V. M. I. athletics.

John McKenna

The big Irishman—Starred at Villanova in '37. A recent new-comer to V. M. I. he is already a very popular man with the Corps. Will undoubtedly prove to be a great coach.

Vince Ragunas

Youngest man on the coaching staff. Played full-back here at V. M. I. in '46, '47, '48. Finishes his third year here with Nugent and Co. Coaches the backs and handles his job well.

Clark King

New at V. M. I., he replaces Bill O'Hara who was end coach for Tom Nugent—found he had to unlearn all he knew about the "T" formation to handle the new "I" formation, and has done a fine job—valuable man on the coaching staff and popular with the players.

Chuck Noe

A stickler for conditioning and a hog for work, he is a small charge of dynamite for the basketball team—handled many of the football scouting assignments—an all-round athlete, he has taken over and done a fine job with the baseball team—considered one of the finest young coaches in the State.

Col. "Sam" Heflin

V. M. I.'s grand-dad of sports, he coaches football as well as wrestling—gets right in and blocks and wrestles with his men, and he is still strong as an ox—V. M. I.'s top lineman in 1915, he has been round the Institute since 1917—very often the final word on policy to be adopted by the coaches.

2—The "Mighty Moe."

3—Key figures seen at the V. P. I. Game.

4—Nugent sends his chargers into action.

5—Keydets break Virginia's clean slate of unscored-upon victories.

6—The Corps in review at the V. P. I. Game.

Tommy Bonnett

Big, rugged hoy who anchored V. M. I.'s line last year as a 2nd classman. 6 feet tall and 210 pounds, and likes it best when it gets rough. One of the State's best blockers and the fastest lineman on the squad.

Bill Brehany

Truly an outstanding passer and QB. A native of Ridgeley, W. Va., who masterminded V. M. I.'s "T", split and double-wing formations. Led conference in passing and named to several "all" teams. Ranked among top 10 passers of the country.

Jim Byron

A Donora, Pa., product who in one year of varsity competition established quite a record. Led the conference in several phases of the pass receiving game after having no previous experience at end.

Gene Cury

Outstanding on both defense and offense who believed in the game for the sport. A keen competitor in every respect he could be counted on for rugged line play when it counted.

George Chumbley

V. M. I.'s fullback who was converted from his normal left half position. Was fast and elusive and hard to stop. Handled punting and kick-offs with ease. Also figured heavily in defensive backfield.

Chuck Dinninger

Speed merchant from Freeport, Pa. An explosive runner who used his speed to advantage as a defensive back. Turned in several spectacular runs during his football career at V. M. I.

Johnny Gilbert

Ferocious tackler and outstanding defensive fixture. This native of Glen Allen, Va., was one of V. M. I.'s toughest customers when it came to stopping a ball-carrier.

Jack Lanford*

Great, big fellow at 6'2"—225 lbs. Fast for his size. Played mostly defense but could also play offense when needed. Was as rough as he was big.

Curly Powell

Joseph Francis was quite a seat-back. Specialized in returning punts and kick-offs, was always dangerous when running from his right half position.

Chippy Woods

One of the smallest but fastest men on squad. Loves to hit, and always played "blood and guts" football. Played half-back and was hard to catch when he got clear.

Ed Woy

Big boy from Chattanooga. Well-coordinated quarter-back who could throw that football with the best of them. Used on both offense and defense and did both well.

Warren Zeiders

Ferocious lineman—"The Bull." Built like a tank and operates about as effectively. Real defensive rock, and another who likes it rough and rugged.

CROSS-COUNTRY

For the third time in as many years the Cross-Country team has brought VMI a State Championship. This Championship, as in the past, was gained through the hard work of the runners, a good manager and most of all a diligent and hard-driving coach who is second to none. It was mainly through his excellent coaching and his love for the sport that we again had a winning team.

Upon the return of the Corps in September, the team went immediately to work. With our first meet not far off, the work was long and grueling, and many a runner could be heard complaining about that "slave-driving coach." First, the course that the men had to run was along the Nile and up Hospital Hill, then it changed to the one through W & L Campus and out past Liberty Hall. Next the team had to run the worst course of all: White's Farm, a track so hilly and uneven that it has bested more than one good runner. Though the feet got sore and the griping got loud, the team began to show signs of getting into shape.

The first meet of the season rolled around all too early for the Harriers. A strong Richmond team defeated them 28-30 on the W. & L. course. This was the second straight year that Richmond had romped over us early in the season, however, the men were determined to change this story in the forthcoming State and Conference meets.

With another week of conditioning behind

Coach Cormack and Captain McLain

them, the team easily outran William and Mary 17-45 on a muddy, rain-soaked course at White's Farm. McLain (captain), Forsyth, Tonkin and Fortin finished in the first four places with Angle, Bourke and Willard not far behind. The team showed a great improvement over the Richmond meet, and for the first time in the season showed their all-important depth in team strength. This strength prevailed ten days later when Virginia's Wahoos took a 25-35 loss with Fortin, Forsyth, McLain, Tonkin and Angle finishing in the first five places. Four days later found the team struggling under superior forces against Morgantown, West Virginia, and losing 18-45. That same day Richmond won the AAU meet at Richmond, a meet we had won the previous year but were unable to attend this year because of earlier commitments.

A four day road trip was next on the agenda, first to meet a powerful Davidson team then on to William and Mary for the Big Six Meet. At Davidson the team again showed its winning ways and downed the Wildcats 22-35, with McLain, Forsyth and Fortin placing third and fourth closely followed by Angle, Tonkin and Whitehurst. Then came the Big Six Meet at Richmond. Richmond had upset us early in the season and they were favorable to win; they had a good team but we were out to prove that we had a better one. That day a determined VMI team toed the line for the 4¾-mile run round Lake Matoaka. Less than 27 minutes later we had proved our point — the championship was ours for the third year in a row.

Two weeks later, on November 17th, the team was again in Richmond for the Southern Conference Meet. In a field of nearly a hundred runners the VMI team finished in the upper third. McLain, Forsyth and Fortin did exceptionally well, each of them winning a trophy. As a team VMI placed fourth behind such powerhouses as N. C. State and Maryland, but far ahead of such schools as Duke and Richmond.

The season officially ended for us with the annual party at White's Farm, and for the first time in several months the team was able to forget training rules and enjoy themselves. However, there is a damper for all things, and when the teammates think of losing their three top men—Forsyth, McLain and Fortin—a lump forms and they wish them good luck in their future life, knowing that such team spirit as they showed cannot but bring them good fortune in the future.

INDOOR TRACK

Last year a new track event was inaugurated at VMI; the VMI Winter Relays. Coach Walter Cormack was the initiator of this new event, and it is open to all colleges in this part of the country. The meet last year, the first of the series, was on a rather small scale, but this year some twelve colleges entered, making the Winter Relays one of the biggest sporting events at VMI.

OUTDOOR TRACK

The 1952 Outdoor Track Team, led by Bill Massie, had a two-win and a four-loss season, Captain Massie being undefeated in his event throughout the season.

During the season, the team met six opponents. The first of these was William and Mary, and V. M. I. won by a runaway score of 110 to 21. In this meet V. M. I. took thirteen first places in the following events: 100 yd. and 220 yd. sprints (Decker), 880 yd. run (Angle), mile run (Massie), two-mile run (tie between McLain and Fortin), high and low hurdles and broad jump (Mapp), high jump, pole vault and javelin (Barry), discus and shot-put (Bird). The second meet was with University of North Carolina on a cold, rainy day, and Carolina took the field from the V. M. I. runners by a score of 89 to 42. At this meet V. M. I. was minus two first string performers, but Mapp, Angle and Massie carried the burden, winning in their specialties.

McLain

Next came the meet with University of West Virginia in which V.M.I. was minus Berry, Birge and Decker. West Virginia won the meet by a score of 67-13 to 54-23. In this encounter Mapp was the high scorer of both teams, collecting a total of 22 points. He won the 100 yd. dash, the high and low hurdles, the broad jump, and took a second in the high jump.

Decker wins the 100 in the Southern Conference

Massie won the mile and the half-mile, Angle taking second in the half-mile. Following the West Virginia meet V. M. I. played host to its arch-rival V. P. I. The meet was won by V. P. I. by a score of 73 to 58. Winners for V. M. I. were Mapp (low hurdles), Angle (880 yd. run), Massie (mile run) and Decker (100 yd. dash). Next

Harrison

Kleinpeter

Srendsen

Spencer

Angle

V. M. I. clashed with the University of Richmond, running away with the meet by a score of 102 to 29. Decker took the 100 and the 220, getting his fastest time of the season in the 100. Mapp won the high and low hurdles, Angle took the quarter-mile, Massie continued his stride in the mile and a newcomer, Griffith, took the half-mile.

The meet with the University of Virginia ended with a loss for V. M. I., the score being 66-1/6 to 64-5 6. Though the score was close the Keydets made their poorest showing, being without some of their best men. In this meet Decker took the 220, Mapp won the high hurdles, Angle the half-mile, Massie the mile, and Shay the quarter-mile. The mile-relay was won by the V. M. I. team.

On a cold, wet day in May, V. M. I. again played host, this time to the six top teams in the State in the Big Six Meet. Because of a decision of the two-mile run, V. M. I. took second place by a slim margin of 2-1 2 points. The V. M. I. State champions were Angle (880), Massie (mile), and Mapp (high and low hurdles.)

The climax of the season came in the Southern Conference Meet at Chapel Hill, N. C., where V. M. I. came away with one conference champion and a fifth place in the entire meet. Captain Bill Massie took second in the mile; Angle took third in the 880 with a time of 1:54.7 in a photo finish; Mapp took second in the low hurdles and third in the highs; Decker became our conference champion with a first in the 100 yd. dash. This was the first time in 17 years that a V. M. I. man won this event.

Fortin

First Row: Sherry, Sanguini, Eving, Yates, Gray
 Second Row: Crockett, Ralph, Ramer, Besch, Rossi, Woolheine, Thomas
 Third Row: Cury (manager), Coach Saunders, Brehany, Powell, Chumbley, Petree, Morris, Coach Ragunas

BASEBALL

Captain Blair Thomas

George Chumbley

Is the V. M. I. money player who comes up with the base knocks when the pressure is on—a veteran second baseman and shortstop, he won't let many balls go through him—has a powerful arm to back up his fielding ability.

Bill Brehaney

Captain of the 1953 team—one of the top V. M. I. pitchers, he is known also as a consistent hitter—his team spirit makes him a perfect leader for V. M. I.'s baseball rejuvenation season.

Curley Powell

Is a fixture in the V. M. I. outer gardens where he has roamed for two years—his speed on the bases makes him a dangerous man for the opposition and enables him to be under most of the balls hit his way out in center field.

Jack Sanguini

First made the team in his third class year—looms as a potential All-State second baseman—a long hitter, he was one of the Keydets' leading batters last year.

Bill Ralph

Moved from the first base sack to the pitcher's mound last year—the big Indianan had a bit of trouble hitting the ball last season, but more than made up for it in some fine tossing—Bill will be around this year to play first or to pitch, wherever he is needed most, and he can be counted upon to deliver the goods.

George Ramer

Is one of the best catchers to show himself round V. M. I. in some time—a big man behind the plate, he is just as big when he stands up to bat—a second string All-Stater last year, George has another big year to look forward to after this one.

Again this season V. M. I.'s State Championship Swimming team was able to retain its title by winning its second consecutive State meet. The Keydet tankmen, with the able coaching of Al Conyne, were successful in outswimming all opponents except two. This record is one of the best ever established in the swimming history of the Institute.

The team found a tough schedule facing them this season. This schedule found V. M. I. participating in dual meets with University of North Carolina, University of South Carolina, Duke, The Citadel, William and Mary, V. P. I., and the University of Virginia. The climax of the season came at the State meet when the finnen from the Institute walked off with many individual honors as well as the State title. The season ended with the team taking part in the Southern Conference meet. A fine showing was made in this meet and V. M. I. was able to take home its share of honors.

The Keydets opened the season against a powerful U. N. C. team. Even against this overpowering force the team showed a great deal of spirit and a lot of hard fight. The next meet against Duke resulted in heart-break when the meet was lost on a disqualification in the last relay. The tankmen then overpowered the Citadel, South Carolina and William and Mary. V. P. I. next fell in the wake of the Keydet tide. Perhaps the next meet with U. Va., always a big rival, proved to be the most exciting of the season. V. M. I. came from behind and won the meet in the last relay. The season concluded with the State and Conference meets.

Outstanding performers on this year's team were Captain H a r r y Johnston, Richard Taferner, Dick Hoyt, winner of the Rat swimming trophy, and Frank Boxley. These men were the mainstays of the team. Johnston was able to set a new record in the 200 yard backstroke and copped many honors for himself as well as the team. Other stellar performances were turned in by free-stylers Taferner and Hoyt. Hoyt, a fourth classman, proved to be the team's hidden power and will be of great value to the team in seasons to come.

Thus with a successful season, a State championship and a good showing in the Southern Conference, Coach Conyne again demonstrated his ability to produce a top-notch swimming team.

HAROLD CLAUS, manager. In-juries early in his wrestling days cut short a promising record, but Hal nurses his boys along just the same.

THE WRESTLING SCENE

As the 1951-52 season ended, the wrestling future of VMI shone brightly. The team, on the build, had functioned far better than had been expected. It appeared that Maryland's supremacy might be strongly challenged this year.

One champion, two third place men and one fourth place man (Ed Brown, Walt Sanders, Ted Mariani, and Miles Nowitsky) formed a solid core round which to fashion the team. There were also many others whose hard work in gaining much-needed experience and whose strong desire to win made them valuable cogs in the grappling machine.

It was not in the cards, however, for this group of men to take to the mat as a unit at full strength. Even before the season opened Mariani suffered a neck injury that made it impossible for him to compete for the duration of the season. Shortly after the Christmas holidays, Sanders, who had three falls to his credit, was the victim of a freak accident in practice that put him out of commission for the remainder of the season with a leg fracture. After these disasters set the pace, the influenza epidemic and various other injuries stepped in to weaken the entire squad and sideline more talent.

The wrestlers who filled the gaps worked long and hard, but their inexperience proved too much of an obstacle to bring the team up to its original power.

Jock Wheeler, who was counted out with an injury late in the season, did a grand job of wrestling against opponents of greater experience in most of the meets. Bill Berry, Buck Anderson and Troy Carter also turned in good accounts in the face of some of the roughest contests.

Despite the heavy loss of key men, and the consequent decline of team strength, the grapplers suffered only one bad defeat and that was to the conference champion. The other meets were about evenly matched.

Credit is due to the team as a whole, for the substitution of spirit in lieu of experience makes a long hard road to travel.

IT'S AN OUTRAGE!

HONESTY IS THE BEST POLICY (?)

The insidious Doctor Ali (Khat) Khurhi is apprehended in his mountain citadel in Hootin' Owl Hollow by F. B. I. agents #1 and #2. This is the first full face photograph of the mad Doctor and was obtained as he tried to dodge the wrong camera (a dummy). It was suspected at the time that Ali (alias Bog) knew full well that his freedom was secure. Khurhi was first suspected when alert government agents Kneemyer and Hatchet discovered his illegal entry into the country. Further investigation revealed his startling tie-up of the nation's basic natural and financial resources!

With his lawyers Lee Gul Wit and with Israeli competitor Alfonsus Kostello Schriker, Klmrhi prepares his defense. Schriker has come to this meeting for fear of his business interests, as is evident by his contorted face. This is a seldom seen policy-making picture with Schriker making the usual fight for rights. The ice cream and sandwich industries are concerned.

Later, a jury of sternly efficient fellow citizens arrived from Lower Tia Juana to hear the case. It is composed of:

KHURHI IS WHISKED PAST "CADET" PHOTOGRAPHER TO TRIAL

"Argentine Ben" White (Confidence)

Frenchy D. Deel ("Trigger" man)

"Risky" Artz (Postcards)

"Koke" Kallelis (Prescription Medicine)

and a fifth man known as "Slick" (Occupation Unknown). (Note: At this time, the man known as "Risky" was suspected of Communistic, Fascistic, and Anarchistic leanings, for the dark glasses and the "Camel"—a worker's cigarette.)

The Doctor pleads for Big Business (and for himself) before an unbiased and disinterested Council. The man in the dark glasses was accepted only because of the insistent demands of A. Schriker. Then the unbiased people's jury filed out of the courtroom and was about to find Khurhi guilty only of certain charges. Big Business is seen triumphing in the hands of the shady juror. We must not for a moment think that these men are to be moved by bribes. The transaction shown in the picture is simply an afternoon "numbers" pay-off.

TALKS CASE OVER WITH LAWYER

JURY IS PICKED

The jury then deliberated while the nation anxiously awaited the verdict. The case had turned out to have the finance of the nation at stake. If Khurhi was found guilty, the end of Big Business was near. In the accompanying picture, which was taken from a camera concealed in a corkscrew, our suspicions of the "Pink" juror were confirmed. Notice that he is fingering number 1 red and is separate from the unbiased people's jury. He is obviously concerned with his own interests.

PANEL OF EXPERTS HEAR KHURHI PLEAD HIS CASE

WIT PLEADS CASE DURING RECESS

JURY IN HEATED DEBATE

ALI IS CONFIDENT

The council found, to the relief of Big Business, that control of the nation's Lumber, Diamond, Food, Meatpacking, Coal, Textile, Oil, Steel, Gold and Silver, Agriculture, Transportation, Motion Picture, Ice Cream, and Sandwich industries did not necessarily imply monopoly or the intent to monopolize. However, as the government needed coffee money until March fifteenth, Khurhi was fined 1 National Debt, plus costs (which, as the Debating Jury picture will show, were considerable).

After payment of the National Debt (at a somewhat high interest) the jury naturally released Khurhi and returned to the jury room for nightcaps. At this deliberation, it was found that Schrickteak was in connection with a certain F. R. P. Latrel syndicate and was in court for the sole and scurrilous purpose of inducing the man in the dark glasses to bring in a guilty sentence. The irate and patriotically-minded jury took immediate action, while in the deliberation room, and the man never left the room. Schriker was naturally prosecuted to the full extent of the Law and received a life sentence.

Justice Triumphs!

MR. OUTRAGE VISITS CRAZET CAFÉ

On a recent travel tour through Virginia, Mr. Outrage stopped at V. M. I.'s famed Crazet Cafe and reported that the popular restaurant has, through recent improvements, added customers from as far as New Barax to its already bursting list of regular customers.

Foremost among these improvements is the addition of a new staff of flawless caterers. These highly trained and well drilled waiters are quickly and efficiently tending to the wants of Crazet's somewhat choosy patrons. "Your order is not taken," reports Mr. O., "but placed entirely in the hands of these waiters, which also explains the dirtiness of the dishware." Top left, the smiling faces of the customers in Crazet's well lighted Regiment Room testify to the homey satisfaction afforded by Crazet's varied and well-prepared dinners. Below, appetizers are readied for the well lit customers in the vestibule.

Again for '53 Ford's out Front!

It's the New STANDARD of the AMERICAN ROAD!

With 41 "Worth More" features, Ford's worth more when you buy it...worth more when you sell it.

What you want in a car . . . this '53 Ford has!

You drive longer distances . . . so you need a car with real "Go." You "live" more in your car . . . so it must have more living room . . . more carrying space.

Good roads are better, bad roads are worse. So you need riding qualities that set an entirely new standard of soft, quiet smoothness . . . plus extra easy handling and braking.

And, of course, you want the style setter . . . a car that belongs wherever you may drive.

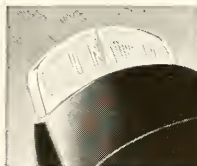

Only the 1953 Ford can give you so many things you need and want for so little money!

See this beautiful new Ford. Value Check the 41 "Worth More" features that help make it worth more when you buy it . . . worth more when you sell it. Test Drive it. Then you'll agree that here is the new standard of the American Road.

The Only V-8 In Its Field! It's a smooth, spirited high-compression 110-h.p. V-8 engine . . . it's the type of "eight" used in America's finest cars.

Most Modern Six! It's the most modern Six engine in the industry. It has 101 economical, high-compression, low-friction horsepower.

Fordomatic Drive is the finest, most versatile automatic drive you can own. And remember, Ford also offers Overdrive and Conventional.

New Wonder Ride! Not just more responsive springs and "shocks," but a ride which gives you an entirely new concept of smooth, quiet comfort.

'53 FORD

Fordomatic, Overdrive, white-side-wall tires optional at extra cost. Equipment, accessories and trim subject to change without notice.

See it...Value Check it...Test Drive it!

IT'S LATER THAN YOU THINK!

1953 A. D. . .

. . . Only 47 more years!

So you are seniors! More important than that you are GRADUATES. And it's the Class of 1953 A. D. The 20th Century is more than half gone. You're going out into the world at the beginning of a new era.

The fate of our nation, in fact the world, America confidently places into the hands of its youth . . . into your hands, the Graduates of V. M. I. and thousands of other college graduates.

You have proven your ability to keep democracy working by completing your education. We of McClung and Morgan join with your parents and friends in extending to you our heartiest congratulations and we look to each and every one of you to "keep up the good work" as you take your place in the adult world as citizens.

Initiative . . .

Individual effort and initiative are two of the basic principles upon which America has grown great and strong. Had these early opportunities been limited or suppressed, progress in this nation would have been retarded.

Today, as in the past, America needs many spirited and determined youth to prepare for future responsibilities. College students, like yourselves, will make better citizens tomorrow; help make better communities; better government; and a better way of life for all people.

This company, founded upon initiative and free enterprise, strives each day to further the American Way. Our contribution to progress helps hundreds of communities and industries to become more productive through the use of economical and dependable electric power.

Compliments of a Friend

The editors of the BOMB wish to express their sincere thanks to those who have helped to make this book a reality—the members of the staff who have given freely of their time and energy, the photographer who has accommodated us in countless ways, the engravers who have done their work well, the advertisers whose financial aid has pushed us to success, and the printing company who has bent over backwards to see that this book be published.
